A seven-year-old boy got a free trip to America on the Queen Elizabeth 2, one of the world's largest ships. He didn't have a ticket but he lied to a member of the crew about it. He said that his parents were on the ship and they had his ticket and passport.

SNOOZE HABIT

My boyfriend falls asleep in front of the television every night. I feel annoyed by this because I think he is doing it to avoid me, because he never falls asleep when he's got friends round. If I complain, he tells me to leave him alone – saying he's tired because he works hard. It's true – he does work very hard, but he's only 24. If he's not doing it to avoid me, do you think there could be something medically wrong with him? I'm starting to get really fed up.

"I was going to a party and wanted to wear my white skirt. But it had a grass stain<sup>1</sup> on it. My mum was away and I can't use a washing machine, so I decided to boil the skirt in a pot on the cooker. I filled the pot with water and when the water was boiling, I put my skirt into the pot. I boiled it for ages and believe it or not, it worked. The stain came out and the skirt was as white as snow. However, I forgot to remove the pot from the cooker, so you can imagine my horror when I came downstairs later to find my dad boiling vegetables for our dinner in the pot. I certainly wasn't very hungry that night!"

PARAMEDICS GET THEIR SKATEBOARDS ON IN A NEW CITY PROJECT

<sup>2</sup> The skateboard units will be sent to 999<sup>5</sup> emergency calls at the same time as conventional ambulances. Experts hope that the skateboarders will reach the patients faster than the ambulances. If the SRU paramedic reaches the patient sooner than the ambulance, he will call the operation centre and inform it about the state of the patient. If the injury or the health problem is not serious, the ambulance going to the patient will be diverted<sup>6</sup> to other more important calls.

<sup>3</sup> Most Londoners support this new idea, especially young people, producers of sports` equipment and surprisingly, also teachers, who say that it may motivate the students keen on skateboarding to spend more time on learning. These students could then go to medical schools and use their skateboarding skills in their future career. However, many doctors are sceptical about the project and there are some critics, too, who don't want skateboards in the City at all, no matter who rides them.

<sup>4</sup> If the SRU service is successful in the City, it will be extended to large public buildings in London, including Heathrow airport and large shopping centres.

- 5 Why will the SRU paramedics operate<sup>7</sup> in the City? (paragraph 1)

  - B) Because many skateboarders get injured in the City.
  - C) Because 87% of all accidents happen in the City.
  - D) Because there is very heavy traffic in the City.

- 9 What can we learn from the text about the Skateboard Response Unit?

  - C) is a very cheap way of operating emergency service in London.
  - D) will start operating in the City and in other parts of London at the same time.

251 Menlove Avenue, the home of John Lennon

251 Menlove Avenue, named Mendips, is the childhood home of John Lennon, singer and songwriter with the Beatles. This is the place where John lived with his aunt and uncle from 1945 to 1963. He spent his childhood, youth and formative Beatles years here. This was where his passion for music began and where some of his early songs were written. There is a photograph of the house on the cover of Oasis' single "Live Forever." The house has been restored to how it would have looked in the 1950s, complete with furniture and floor-coverings.

20 Forthlin Road, the home of Sir Paul McCartney

A couple of miles away in Allerton is 20 Forthlin Road, one of the most important houses in the history of popular music. This 1950s terraced house is where the Beatles met and wrote many of their songs. As in Lennon's home, it is all authentically furnished and done out in period style. It is the childhood home of Sir Paul McCartney and his brother. The two boys lived here with their dad, Jim, because Paul's mother died when he was a teenager, and his father had to bring the boys up alone.

WHY SLEEP?

Ants don't need to sleep at all, and cows and horses can (0) fall asleep standing up. But if you (24) _____ an average teenager, you need to sleep (25) _____! Scientists say a teenager should get (26) _____ eight and ten hours of sleep a night.

Scientists in the USA (27) _____ that 55% of young people wake up feeling tired because they don't get (28) _____ sleep. 15% of American teenagers fall asleep in school at least (29) _____ each year.

If you want (30) _____ in bed late in the morning, it is not lazy. Melatonin, a hormone that helps you fall asleep, works at a (31) _____ time of day for teenagers and adults. This means that young people typically prefer (32) _____ bed late and get up late. Unfortunately, most schools start their first lessons (33) _____ early that you may have to get up at 5 or 6 a.m. (34) _____ to be at school on time for your first class.

Since the beginning of the millennium<sup>10</sup>, some schools in America (35) _____ experimenting with a new system that could be better for teenagers. One school in Ohio (36) _____ the time of its first lesson from 7.30 to 8.30 a.m. only a year ago and the first results are really surprising — school grades (37) _____.
